

HOW WILL I RELATE TO IT?

1. The concept of eternity in a sinless universe makes me think:
 - A. Where's the fun and challenge if there's no longer a chance of ruining everything?
 - B. Sounds like endless opportunities for adventure and discovery.
 - C. Imagine never having to say goodbye.
 - D. I can't wait to discover who I really am.

2. If I could accomplish absolutely anything I set my mind to, I would:
 - A. Explore each of the universe's hundreds of billions of galaxies.
 - B. Better get to know older relatives I lost too soon.
 - C. Develop to the utmost my skills in music, engineering, art, literature, or science.
 - D. Try to somehow wrap my mind around the story of good, evil, sin, and redemption.

3. As I contemplate a restored world, I think:
 - A. Can I have a pet dodo—or maybe a mastodon?
 - B. I wonder how long I'll be able to hold my breath when I go swimming in my new, perfect body?
 - C. How strange will it feel to look back on this broken world with all its problems we took for granted?
 - D. What will life be like without stress?
